BUT THE CHICAGO PLATFORM IS LAID ASIDE FOR THE STATE CONVENTION TO TACKLE-CHAIRMAN MARTIN'S PLEA FOR DELAY IGNORED.

The Tammany Hall Executive Committee held its first meeting yesterday since the Populists and Anarchists captured the Democratic National Convention at Chicago, neminating a free-silver ticket in opposition to Tammany's sound-money declarations. The braves of the Wigwam have been for the last three weeks sniffing at the unsavory dish which the repudiationists placed before them. Yesterday they concluded to gulp down half of it-the ticket part. The platform was covered up and set aside for the Buffalo State convention. The platform was too revolting for even the Tam-

No action was taken looking to the calling of a mass-meeting to "ratify" the ticket, as has been the custom with Tammany in Presidential campaigns, and no time was fixed for the assembling of the Committee on Organization and the Gening on the organization. The only apparent result of the meeting yesterday was the display after its adjournment of a banner in front of the Wiswam building bearing the portraits and names of the Chicago candidates.

The meeting was called to order by Chairman James J. Martin, who briefly outlined the reasons for bringing the members together. When the roll was called seventy-five of the seventynine members were found to be present.

SHEEHAN'S MOTION.

John C. Sheehan, chairman of the Finance Committee, the place formerly held by Richard Croker, offered this resolution and moved its Resolved, That the Executive Committee of the Democratic Organization of the City and County of New-York, in regular meeting assembled in Tammany Hall, does hereby accept and approve the nomination of William J. Bryan, of Nebraska, for President, and Arthur Sewall, of Maine, for Vice-President of the United States, as the wise determination of the Democratic National Convention recently held in Chicago, and we pledge our loyal and hearty support to their candidacy.

Mr. Sheehan followed his motion with a speech, in which he took the ground that Tammany could not depart from its custom of accepting question had been ignored by the Chicago Convention. The platform, he said, although adopted by two-thirds of the body, apparently met the disapproval of many Democrats. There was a wide difference of opinion as to the best financial system for the Nation. He said that a mafority of the delegates in the Convention were honest, although they did not agree with the position taken by New-York. He thought that Tammany should line up in favor of the Chicago

County Clerk Henry D. Purroy seconded th resolution and made a long speech. He said he was no enthusiast in the cause of free silver, but he dropped into a lot of "flubdub" about the wrongs of the "toiling masses," and his anxiety to support and defend the downtrodden and oppressed that would have done credit to Altgeld

Mr. Purroy was followed by George W. Plunkitt, Colonel M. C. Murphy, John B. McGoldrick, John J. Scannell, William Sohmer, James P. Keating, James W. Boyle, John T. Oakley and Augustus W. Peters, all of whom advocated or assented to the proposition to accept Bryan and

MARTIN COUNSELS DELAY.

Chairman Martin called Colonel Murphy to preside, and advised that the question be de ferred until the Democratic State Convention met. He said, among other things:

met. He said, arrong other things:

Since our return from the Chicago Convention we find the political situation very perplexing. The majority of the delegates declare themselves not able to support the ticket. The Grand Sachem of the Tammany Society and many of the other sachems have pronounced fikewise. In a majority of the districts there is considerable disaffection.

Our German allies of a year ago are against the ticket. The newspapers, with two exceptions, are opposing the ticket. We are a portion of the Democratic party of the State. It will be the duty of the State Convention which is to meet at Buffalo to enter into some action in regard to the Chicago Convention. We have nothing to gain and everything to lose by hasty action. Undue haste will embitter many Democrats whose support we need.

Mr. Martin then made a motion that no action e taken until the Democratic State Convention, meet in Buffalo September 16, could act. Ex-Alderman Rollin M. Morgan supported this otion, and said he believed he represented the ntiment of the majority of the Democrats in is district in asking for delay. They were face face with a perplexing political situation. scussion should be afforded, as many votes would be lost to the party. For these reasons he ranted delay until the State Convention had

According to the account of the shooting given by the daughter of the landlady at the house where it occurred. Wall was alone in his room about 3 o'clock in the afternoon, when he heard sound of some one trying to enter from the stranger, who had under his arm a bundle which Wall recognized as containing clothing belonging to another lodger in the house. On seeing Wall the stranger started to run back through the hall. Wall sprang after him, calling to him to stop, but the thief rushed to the stairs. Wall overtook him before he could go further, and seized the fellow by the shoulders. In the struggle which ensued Wall cried for help. The sound of hurrying footsteps was heard, and the thief wrenched himself free, but Wall clutched him

"I'll kill you if you don't drop me," the fellow gasped breathlessly, but Wall still held him, until, with a great effort, the thief wrenched an arm free for a moment. In the instant he gained he pulled a pistol, and, pressing it close to his antagonist's side, pulled the trigger. Wall's grasp relaxed as the bullet entered his side, and he fell on the top stair. The thief, stepping over his prostrate body, almost threw himself down the stairs, and rushed out through the street door just as the landlady, who was the only person besides Wall in the house, reached the stricken man's side.

To the woman Wall gasped the story of the A call was sent to Bellevue Hospital for an ambulance, and the wounded man was soon removed. At the hospital the surgeons decided that no effert could be made at that time to ex-tract the bullet, as Wall's condition was critical.

SHOT WHILE. RESISTING ARREST.

THE PRISONER PROBABLY PATALLY WOUNDED BY THE POLICEMAN IN A SCRIMMAGE.

For the last week the police of the West Sixty eighth-st. station have been looking for James Cody, eighteen years old. He lived with his parents at No. 215 West Sixty-second-st., and was wanted on An a warrant issued by Magistrate Simms, of the Yorkville Court, on July 24. The warrant was issued on complaint of Henry O. Hewitt, of No. 214 West Sixty-second-st, who alleges in his complaint that on the day before, July 23, Cody and a number of ened to take his life.

Yesterday afternoon, while Policeman Peter Kiernan was on duty in West Sixty-second-st., he saw Cody, in company with a number of his compan st. He told Cody that he wanted him, and Cody repiled. "If you want me you had better come and get me." With these words he dashed into the building. No. 225, and ran through it to the rear yard. Klernan followed him, and overtook him as he was elimbing over the fence to the rear of the Cody by the leg and dragged him off the fence. took him through the building, No. 225 West Sixtying through the hallway in the basement of building to reach Sixty-second-st, four or five of Cody's companions met them and made an attack

One of the men, whom Kiernan says was William Willis, of No. 453 Ninth-ave., struck the officer twice with a billet of wood back of the left ear. Two others grabbed him about the body, and Cody escaped. Kiernan, however, followed the fleeing prisoner and overtook him just outside the building. The friends of Cody made another attack upon he policeman, and Kiernan drew his revolver, saying that he would shoot the first man that inter-

One of the crowde shouted to Cody: "Go at him; here's nothing in his revolver." "There's enough there for me to defend myself " sald Kiernan.

The crowd then, according to Kiernan's story, made an attack upon him, and he drew his re-volver and fired at his assailants. As he did so, he says, one of the men grabbed his arm, thus divert-ing his aim. The ball from his revolver struck says, one of the men granded his arm, thus diversing his aim. The ball from his revolver struck the pavement, and glancing, struck James Cantwell, three years old, of No. 25 West Sixty-secondst, on the right heel, only breaking the skin however. Klernan says that Cody then grabbe, him about the body, trying to throw him. He fired again, the ball striking Cody in the abdomen and inflicting a wound which the surgeons at the Roosevelt Hospital, whither the injured man was conveyed in an ambulance, say will cause his death. Kistnan, after escorting his pitoner to the hospital, returned to the West Sixty-eighth-st, station where he reported the shooting and surrenderen his revolver and shield. He was formally suspended by Captain Thomas. Kiernan has a good record. He was appointed four years ago, and since that time has never had any charges preferred against him. He is thirty-three years old, is married and lives with his wife and five children at No. 25 West Sixty-seventh-st.

The police of the West Sixty-eighth-st, station give Cody a bad record. Captain Thomas says he is a member of a "gaing" which congregates in West Sixty-second and West Sixty-third sis, and insults passers-by.

To Coroner Fitzpatrick, who visited Roosevelt Hospital about 3 o'clock last night, Cody made an ante-mortem statement.

A DELEGATION OF OLD SOLDIERS CHEERS THE MAJOR AS HE CHAMPIONS AN HONEST AND HONORABLE CURRENCY.

Canton, Ohio, July 31 .- A delegation of about gaged in the tinplate industry, from Guernsey County came to Canton this afternoon to cail on Major McKinley. They came on a special train and had a great deal of trouble getting here, the track below here being under water in several places. This, however, did not check McKinley appeared on the veranda of his house to greet them, he was received with prolonged plause and the waving of many flags.

Ex-Congressman J. D. Taylor, who served in the House with Major McKinley, spoke first.

We have come to-day, Major McKinley, to tender our personal regards and to add con-gratulations to the many hitherto given you. We have not come as partisans, but as friends and neighbors. We have to day before you in and neighbors. We have to-day before you in this delegation members of the G. A. R. of Cambridge. They are men who have learned to love you for your patriotic devotion to your country in time of war and in time of peace. These old comrades have come to pay tribute to your high personal character and for the public service you have rendered. The old soldiers want one thing remembered, and that is that the honor and integrity of the old flag must be maintained

You heard it said in Congress many a time tr, that we could not make tin in this country, want to say to you that we have in this crowd efore you men who are employed in the Cambridge tin mill. They work in a tin mill which has sent out 6,000 tons, or 120,000 boxes, of tin a year, and it is as good as any tinplate made across the water. These men have come from Guernsey County from all walks of life. We have come to believe that the star of hope for the laboring man is resting in Canton. In behalf of the men and women in this delegation—for there are a number of ladles who have come along with us—I extend greeting to you and Mrs. McKinley.

A WAR CHAPLAIN'S GLOWING WORDS. After the cheering ended Dr. W. H. McFarland, pastor of the Presbyterian Church in Cambridge, was introduced. He is a man bowed under the weight of years. He was chaplain of the 98th Regiment during the war, and is well known throughout the State. He spoke briefly, saying that he had come to see and hear and grasp the hand of the most illustrious friend of labor in the United States.

Said Dr. McFarland: "He is the man who has done more for the laboring man than any other man in this country-or in the world, for that matter." Then, turning to Major McKinley, he added: "No one has put a brighter crown of glory on the brow of honest toll than you." He ended by grasping Major McKinley by the hand. MAJOR M'KINLEY'S ELOQUENCE.

Major McKinley spoke without manuscript and with unusual emphasis. It was one of the most eloquent speeches he has ever made, and it roused the enthusiasm of the delegation to the highest pitch. He said:

Colonel Taylor, Dr. McFarland, my comrades and fellow-citizens: It gives me great gratifica-tion to receive this call from my old friends and neighbors and fellow-citizens of Guernsey Counneighbors and fellow-citizens of Guernsey County. I have made many visits to your county in years gone by. I know most of you personally. I know something of the quality of your population. I know something of the spirit of your people. I know something of your loyalty and devotion to the Union in war, and I know much of your loyalty and devotion to patriotism and good government in peace. (Cheers.) And, knowing you as well as I do know you. I am certain that neither flood nor fire would stop you from doing what you had proposed to do. (Laughter and applause.)

GAVE EMPLOYMENT TO AMERICAN LABOR. to the east, crossing the Mississippi River over who are assembled here this morning. I con-Taylor has referred. I am glad to know that Republican legislation gave to this country an industry that gives work and wages to American workingmen, and brings happiness to American homes. (Great cheering and applause.)

I am glad, my fellow-citizens, to mest-my old my comrades of thirty-five years ago, for the war began thirty-five years ago, and it is nearly thirty-two years since its close. It seems not so long nor so far away, but as I look into the faces of the old soldiers before me to-day I see are just as loyal to the old flag of the Union (tremendous cheering), and they are just as loyal to National honor to-day as they were oyal to National unity then. (Applause.)

When the war closed there were two great debts resting upon this Government. One was the debt due to the men who had loaned the Government money with which to carry on its military operations. The other debt was due to the men who had winningly offered their fives for the preservation of the American Union. (Cheers.) The old soldiers waited on their pen-sions until this great debt of the Government was well out of the way. They waited patiently until the Government of the United States had water two thirds of the great money until the Government of the United States had reduced nearly two-thirds of the great money debt. The old soldiers never were in favor of repudiating that. (Applause.) They wanted every dollar of the debt paid in the best money known to the commercial world. (Applause.) And every dollar if that debt up to this hour has been paid in gold or its equivalent, the best-recognized money of the world (cheers), and every dollar of that debt, my comrades, yet to be paid will be paid in the same unquestioned coin. (Tremendous cheers.)

THE NATION'S DEBT OF HONOR.

Most of the debt is out of the way. The great debt of this Government is now to the surviving 970,000 pensioners on the honored pension roll pays out of its public Treasury in pensions over $140,000,000 every year to the soldiers and sailors, their widows and their orphans. Every dollar of that debt must be paid in the best currency and coin of the world. (Great cheering and cries of "The Republican party will the old soldiers of the Republic (applause and eries of "You are right, Major,"), their widows and orphans. Our old commander, General Grant (applause), whose memory is cherished by all of you, performed two great and conspicuous acts when President of the United States—one vetoing the Inflation bill that would have cast us upon the sea of depreciated currency, and the other was the signing of the act for the the other was the signing of the act for the resumption of specie payments, that placed every dollar of our money upon the sound foundation of financial honor and unquestioned National honesty; and the old soldiers this year, as in all the years of the past, following their old commander, will stand by the financial honor of the Government, and will no more permit our Nation's integrity to be questioned than they would permit that flag (pointing to an American flag) to be assailed (Applause and cries of "You are right.") I thank you, my fellow-citizens, for this call, so expressive of your good will and congratulations, and assure you good will and congratulations, and assure you that it will afford me much pleasure to meet each one of you personally. (Applause and

EIGHT PEOPLE INJURED WHILE RETURNING

Baltimore, July 31.-Eight persons were injured Clifton Park early this morning. The injured persons, excepting the conductor, had been attending picnic given by the Maryland Pleasure Club, at Weber's Park, and were returning to the city in Weber's Park, and were returning to the city, in two chartered cars. On the steep grade at Gor-such-ave, the first car slacked up and the other ran into it with great force, throwing some of the passengers into the roadway. Others were violent-ity thrown to the floor and more or less injured. The cars were wrecked by the collision and the electric light bulbs burst with a olse which caused a report that an explosion had taken place. The injured persons were removed to their homes in patrol wagons. Their hurts are not believed to be fatal.

SENT A FISHING-LINE TO THE PRESIDENT.

MR CLEVELAND REPLIES THAT HE WILL TEST MR. WILSON'S GIFT.

Easton Md. July 31.-Andrew F. Wilson, of this town, an ardent admirer of President Cleveland, recently made by hand and sent to the President a horsehair fishing-line. This morning he received

Gray Garage F. Wilson.

Dear Sir: I have eccived the horsehair fishing-line you sent me, at I sheerely thank you for it, though I confess I hardy think you should have spent so much thre in making a gift for me. I shall, however, show my appreciation by testing it and proving its quality in actual use. Yours truly, GROVER CLEVELAND.

THE PROVIDENCE DICK TURPIN STEALS AN-OTHER WHEEL AND DEFIES MORE

POLICEMEN.

Providence, July 31.-It was learned here to-day that the bicycle thief who leaped through Dawson & Co.'s show-window yesterday and shot two of his pursuers, after leaving this city held up Willtam B. Beach, bookkeeper for the White Coal Com-pany, on the road from Crescent Park, and at the cle. The desperado then mounted the wheel and headed for Taunton. Eeach was compelled to walk home, a distance of several miles.

Taunton, Mass., July 31 - After the disappearance of the bicycle thicf and shooter in Providence last night, the police of Taunton were informed that he had disappeared in the darkness heading this way. Preparations were rapidly made to intercept him and officers were stationed on the various MORELLI, Thomas F., Bridgeton; compound fracture roads from Providence to Taunton. roads from Providence to Taunton.

About 2 a. m. officers saw a wheelman riding rapidly in on the turnpike. He answered the description of the Providence man and they called to him to halt. He only quickened his speed, and they shot after him three times with apparently no effect. He wheeled down Walker-st., about three miles from the city and disappeared. Five fast riders from the bicyle club were sent out on his trail, but they searched in vain. The man resembled the one wanted for the Strange murder, the Raynham raid and the assault on an officer from whom he escaped in Bristol.

BROWN'S BLOODY OVERALLS.

HE THREW THEM AWAY AFTER THE MURDERS ON THE HERBERT FULLER.

Boston, July 21.-The preliminery examination of Thomas Bram, first mate, and Characa Brown, seaman, of the barkentine Herbert Fuller, on the complaint charging them with the murder of Captain C. J. Nash, Mrs. Nash and Second Mate A. N. Bramberg, was begun to-day before United States Commissioner Fiske. Ex.Dr. crict-Attorney Alian appeared as counsel for Brown. Bram was represented by James E. The captain got the axe and killed his wife. Then the second mate, being the stronger man, perhaps, got the axe from the captain and killed him, and then the second mate killed himself and threw the axe on the deck and then went into the forecastle.

After the murder Bram appointed Brown first mats and witness second mate, so that when Bram and Brown were put in irons, witness was commander of the vessel. Religious services were held over the bodies, being conducted by Monks.

> AND HOSPITAL-BEGINNING AN INVESTIGATION.

Atlantic City, N. J., July 31 .- As a result of the terrible collision on the meadows last evening be tween the Reading Railroad express, from Phila of here, forty-seven people are dead and fortyfour are lying in the hospital here more or less seriously hurt. Of the injured in the hospital several are expected to die. Besides those seriously enough hurt to be in the hospital, a score or more of people were bruised and shaken up and went to cottages. The fearful shock of the collision is illustrated in the fact that of the forty-seven dead forty-two were killed outright, Of the dead forty-two have been identified, and the bodies of three women, one man and a boy are lying in the undertaker's shop awaiting place at this time, but the burden of it seems to rest on the dead engineer of the Reading train. Edward Farr, although an official investigation may clear his name. The list of the dead and injured follows:

A NIGHT OF EXCITEMENT IN THE CITY. All through last night Atlantic City was in an uproar. Thousands thronged out to the scene of the wreck and collected around the railroad stations, and pushed and crowded to watch the trains discharging their loads of dead and injured. As it was gradually learned that nearly every one on the Reading express had escaped uninjured, the crowd gradually thinned out, the anxiety of relatives and friends being relieved by the safe arrival of those they feared were dead or maimed. The uninjured and those only slightly hurt among the Bridgeton people were in a frenzy of agony. The train struck was the first section of the excursion
